Councillors call for mayor's resignation

Audits and overruns.
 Police station could be in jeopardy due to cost of new headquarters

BERNICE PONTANILLA

bernice.pontanilla@metronews.ca

Two city councillors are calling for the resignation of Mayor Sam Katz in the wake of the fire halls audit and news of possible cost overrun at the new Winnipeg police headquarters downtown.

Couns. Ross Eadie and Harvey Smith said Katz and former chief of administration Phil Sheegl must shoulder responsibility for problems with major capital projects.

"(Katz) is the one who influenced this decision to hire the guy," said Eadie.

"I want the mayor to take responsibility, 'cause these guys don't understand the public interest, nor do they understand conflict of interest and it's quite clear the mayor is responsible for Mr. Sheegl."

For his part, Katz said he wouldn't comment on Eadie's resignation call.

Eadie said he's very concerned that the cost overrun at the police's downtown headquarters could put the North District police station project in jeopardy.

The city adopted in 2003 a four-district police station model, with the East and South West District stations built and now in operation.

Coun. Russ Wyatt said there is the possibility the project could be delayed and that other options should be considered, including having the North District function out of the downtown HQ.

"Hartford is not an acceptable facility, I want to say that right now," said Wyatt, referring to the West Kildonan station located at 260 Hartford Ave.

Eadie said he'd prefer to see the North District police station delayed.

"The North End always gets the short end of the stick," he told Metro angrily, pointing out one of the newly-built stations serves Transcona.

Police should cover any HQ cost overruns: Coun. Wyatt

'Not another dime.'
Finance chair says city has already increased the budget

BERNICE PONTANILLA
bernice.pontanilla@metronews.ca

The chair of Winnipeg's finance committee said police will need to find cash within their existing budgets to cover any cost overrun on their new downtown headquarters.

Coun. Russ Wyatt said the city has already adjusted the budget once, to $194 million from $168 million.

"It's a significant budget and I think they need to live within their budget," said Wyatt.

"They should find the funds within their own existing capital budget or within their existing operating budget."

The Winnipeg Free Press reported on Thursday the cost overrun is estimated to be between $11 million and $17 million.

Coun. Scott Fielding, who chairs the city's protection and community services committee as well as the newly-created Winnipeg Police Board, said that number could be even higher.

"I'm beyond mad about this," said Fielding, adding at the end of September a member of the media asked him if there were any issues with the police headquarters.

"I asked at the end of a budget meeting, is there some sort of issue, financial issue, with the police HQ, got a bunch of sheepish looks at the end of the table ... We need to get to the bottom of this."

Both councillors said if any modifications have to do with safety issues, they will consider putting more cash towards the project.

Mayor Sam Katz wouldn't speculate on an exact figure and said that information will come forward during the police's presentation at next Wednesday's executive policy committee meeting.

Mayor Sam Katz refuses to speculate on the potential costs of the overruns at the new downtown police headquarters. BERNICE PONTANILLA/METRO FILE

'I just had a feeling something wasn't right'

A couple who discovered that a man had died during 34 hours in a hospital ER said they tried in vain to get nurses and security guards to check on him but were brushed off.

Debbie Abraham told an inquest Thursday into the death of Brian Sinclair that she knew "something was seriously wrong" when she saw him at Winnipeg's Health Sciences Centre in September 2008.

Abraham first saw Sinclair on Sept. 19 in the emergency room and again when she returned the following night. The 45-year-old double-amputee was in the same spot, slumped over in his wheelchair.

"I just had a feeling something wasn't right," said Abraham, who has worked for 35 years as a health-care aide in a nursing home. "Twenty-four hours had almost passed and I thought it was strange he would still be sitting in the same spot."

Abraham, who was checking on her stepdaughter, said she told a nurse that Sinclair had been waiting for at least 24 hours and someone should have a look at him.

"It was just passed off," she testified.

When she went outside for a cigarette, Abraham watched Sinclair through the window for signs of life, but didn't see him breathe or move, she said. Her husband tried to get someone to check on Sinclair and was told they would when "they could get to him," she added. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Twin-rink Seven Oaks Arena construction facing delays

Expansion project.

City may be running two aging arenas longer than it had hoped it would be

SHANE GIBSON

shane.gibson@metronews.ca

There's been no work started on a multimillion-dollar community arena expansion announced in Garden City in February using a "community partnership strategy" the city hoped would eventually lead it out of the arena-running business.

The $17-million, twin-rink Seven Oaks Arena that had been expected to open next to the Garden City Community Centre in October 2014 is now

The Seven Oaks Arena, seen here in an artist's rendering, was expected to open Oct. 1, 2014, but it's now facing delays after the contractor backed away last month. COURTESY SEVEN OAKS ARENA PROJECT facing delays after the contractor backed away from the project last month.

"We were left with having to find a new contractor after two-and-a-half years," said Lorie Rogalka, who sits on both the Garden City Community Centre board and the Seven Oaks Arena Project committee (SOAP). "The project is still moving forward, we just have to wait and see how much of a delay it will be."

The cost of the arena is being split between the city, the province and the centre, and the city needed to approve SOAP's pick for a new contractor, which happened this week.

In the meantime

The city's community partnership strategy will see both the Vimy Arena and Old Exhibition Arena decommissioned once the Seven Oaks Arena opens. The city said the two aging arenas would remain open until the new multiplex is completed.

If that contractor's new budget and schedule is approved, Rogalka is hopeful work can get started soon, but she said the opening date would depend on what that new budget looks like.

If the date has to change, Rogalka hopes the 100,000-square-foot multiplex can open by January 2015 to salvage half the hockey season, but if that doesn't work it'll be October 2015 before the rink opens.

Comics show gets to the art of the matter

With superheroes and other comics characters featured in movies to TV to video games, Justin Waterman wondered if the actual art in comics "was getting lost."

That's what inspired the Winnipeg artist to mount Blam!, the semiannual "comic-art supershow" that has its third incarnation this weekend. The opening reception for Blam! 3 takes place Friday at 7 p.m. at The Cre8ery in the Exchange District with costumes cheerfully encouraged.

"It's a mix of pros and up-and-comers," said Waterman of participating artists. As for the art, "there's a bit of everything" — original comic-book-page panel drawings to fine-art treatments of characters in oil paintings and other media.

And Waterman assures that it's not all superheroes — art in a more "underground" comics vein is also represented.

Despite its more mainstream emergence in recent years, comics' stigma hasn't completely evaporated.

"You're the bottom of the barrel," said local artist Evan Quiring of his chosen field's status, recalling a former instructor at Red River College who freely aired his disdain.

That hasn't stopped Quiring from publishing his series Los Luchadores Mysterioso with publisher Ronin Studios or participating in and designing the poster for every Blam!

Perhaps the gap in perception can be closed, however: Waterman wants to make the show an annual event.

Blam! runs until Nov. 5.

Pool fouling

What you need:
Blue clothing with seven oak trees on it and mysterious bag of brown goo.

When Seven Oaks Swimming Pool closed a few weeks ago, the press release talked of a "major fouling" of the pool. Follow up discovered the fouling, was, er, of the No. 2 variety. The pool was closed for days.

Quarterback graveyard

What you need:
One Winnipeg Blue Bomber jersey, with the number 041518071416 and the name "Pieralltzbrinkelitus" on the back.

The Bombers have been through several QBs in the past two years, including Buck Pierce, Max Hall, Justin Goltz, Alex Brink, Joey Elliot and Jason Boltus.

Bonus points: Zombie helmet.

Fire hall audit

What you need:
Cheap business suit, cardboard box over your head covered in painted flames that says Fire Station No. 12 and a copy of scathing fire hall audit.

Judging from the howls of outrage at City Council this week, the fire hall audit, which blamed former CAO Phil Sheegl for the mess surrounding a fire hall land swap, was a scary, scary thing.
Bonus points: An 'I heart Shindico' sticker.

Toilet squirrel

What you need:
Damp squirrel ears and tail, plunger (on head preferred).

Metro Winnipeg first brought you the story of toilet squirrel, which was found in a Winnipegger's toilet in a splash heard 'round the world. 'Peggars looked at their potties askance for weeks.

'Illegal' PST increase

What you need:
Handcuffs and a sandwich board that says things like "I hate the 1 per cent" and "Pallister for Prez".

Manitobans are still freaked out about the PST increase, which has been dubbed illegal by the Tories.

Bonus points: Strew Monopoly money around.

Sex-assault claim. Sask. woman who felt ignored by police turns to YouTube

A Saskatoon woman has turned to YouTube to have her voice heard after she says her allegations of sexual assault were dismissed by police.

In a video uploaded to YouTube on Tuesday, 29-year-old Rebecca Campbell levels the accusations against her co-workers at a local restaurant.

Campbell alleges the ordeal began 10 years ago after an acquaintance took advantage of her. "We had been at a party together and at the time I was actually homeless," Campbell told Metro. "He had offered to let me crash on his couch for a couple days, so I left the party with him and he attacked me and raped me."

Although she said she originally went to the police, she feels she was dismissed.

A spokesperson for the Saskatoon Police Service, Alyson Edwards, said upon seeing the video, an officer from the sex-crimes division contacted Campbell.

"We wanted to reach out to her right away so we could resolve any issues or concerns that she has and we wanted her to know that we do take her complaint very seriously," said Edwards.

Senate

Reform plan ruled unconstitutional

The Harper government's most recent attempt at Senate reform has been declared unconstitutional in a stinging court ruling rendered Thursday.

The Quebec Court of Appeal has released an opinion that the federal government had no right to create Senate elections and set term limits without seeking provincial approval.

Ongoing scandal shows deep rifts in Tory ranks

Getting nasty. Debate continues to rage over bid to oust disgraced senators Duffy, Wallin and Brazeau — and now it's personal

The Harper government's bid for summary execution of senators Mike Duffy, Pamela Wallin and Patrick Brazeau has turned into an agonizingly slow soap opera that is exposing a nasty — and increasingly personal — family feud within the Conservative caucus.

Debate over government motions to suspend, without pay, the three erstwhile Conservatives continued to rage in the Senate for the third straight day — with no end in sight.

Thursday's debate saw

Marjory LeBreton, former government leader in the Senate, fire back at Duffy for alleging she was part of a "monstrous" conspiracy to intimidate him into accepting a secret deal to pay back ineligible expenses or face being disqualified from sitting in the Senate.

She variously described Duffy's claims as "utterly preposterous," "blatant falsehood" and "stretching credulity."

And, although LeBreton didn't directly question Prime Minister Stephen Harper's judgment in appointing Duffy to the upper chamber, she revealed that she was never a fan of the former broadcast journalist, who hosted a daily show on federal politics until his elevation to the Senate in 2009.

"I sometimes found myself ... frustrated by his style of journalism, trading as he did, more often than not, on gossip and the latest hot rumour," LeBreton told the upper chamber.

"And sometimes I was so disgusted that I felt like putting my foot through the television set."

When anyone complained, Duffy would say, "It's showbiz," LeBreton said, implying that Duffy has taken the same approach to justifying his role in the Senate expenses scandal.

Anti-government ideology becoming a growing concern

Sovereign citizens?
Libertarian-inspired philosophy said to pose threat to officer and public safety

Training for frontline officers and better information sharing between police and government agencies can help protect law enforcement officials from potentially aggressive "sovereign citizens," says a newly declassified briefing to Canadian police chiefs.

The presentation, prepared for a meeting of the Canadian Association of Chiefs of Police, calls the libertarian-inspired philosophy "a growing concern" that poses a "threat to officer and public safety."

Enforcement agencies are becoming increasingly wary of sovereign citizens, members of the Freeman-on-the-Land movement and other like-minded people who resist police and government authority. Adherents say they shun violence and merely want to live free of government-imposed shackles.

However, police say those who espouse the ideology have been involved in numerous violent encounters with law enforcement and government employees in the United States and, to a lesser extent, in Canada. Freeman commonly claim they do not require a driver's licence, insurance or vehicle registration, police say. And advocates frequently assert a right to have weapons for self-protection, among other things.

Settlement for California officer

The former University of California police officer who pepper-sprayed Occupy protesters has reached a worker's compensation settlement with the university system. The Davis Enterprise reports that a judge approved the $38,000 settlement between John Pike and the University of California on Oct. 16. Video of Pike pepper-spraying the protesters went viral online.

Abduction case sends aftershock

Roma. Negative reporting on minorities has re-emerged via recent cases: Council of Europe's Commissioner for Human Rights

A Roma woman in Bulgaria has undergone DNA testing and faces preliminary charges of child selling as authorities investigate if she is the mother of a young girl found living with an unrelated couple in Greece, authorities said Thursday.

Though the tests have yet to prove Sasha Ruseva, 35, is the biological mother of the girl known as "Maria," the woman's admission that she once left a baby behind in Greece opened her up to a formal investigation.

Ruseva acknowledged to Bulgarian TV that she had been questioned about the girl, believed to be five or six years old, who was found during a raid for drugs and weapons in a Roma camp in central Greece last week. Ruseva said she gave birth to a girl while working as an olive picker in Greece.

The child's case gained global notice.

Ruseva said she wanted the girl back if tests prove she is the girl's mother.

But she denied taking any money for giving up her baby to another Roma family years ago.

The preliminary charges filed against her allow authorities to start an investigation into whether money changed hands for the child.

Greek authorities took custody of "Maria" after a prosecutor present during the camp raid noticed the blond, blue-eyed and pale-skinned girl looked nothing like the couple raising her.

A DNA test confirmed she was not related to them.

Ruseva said she recognized the Greek Roma couple in the "Maria" case as the same people with whom she left her child. Ruseva said she gave birth to a girl while working as an olive picker in Greece "several years ago," but that she had to leave the child because she didn't have enough money to take her home.

Ruseva has had eight children. "I intended to go back and take my child home, but meanwhile I gave birth to two more kids so I was not able to go back," Ruseva said on Bulgarian TV, insisting that she did not get paid for giving up the girl. The "Maria" case has spurred concerns about child trafficking within the Roma community.

Child trafficking?

The "Maria" case has spurred concerns about child trafficking within the Roma community, and cries of racism as well. In an episode apparently inspired by the Greek case, two young blond, blue-eyed children were taken by police in Ireland from their Roma parents, who had different complexions. But the girl and boy were returned to their families Wednesday after DNA tests determined the children were rightfully theirs. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Madeleine McCann case reopened

Portugal's public broadcaster says prosecutors are reopening the police investigation into the disappearance of British child Madeleine McCann, after a review of evidence found new leads in the case.

The public prosecutor decided to reopen the case after "new indications" emerged, though the prosecutor gave no details in a report seen on Radiotelevisao Portuguesa.

The case was closed in 2008 because no crime was detected.

The girl vanished during a family vacation in southern Portugal's Algarve region in May 2007, just before her fourth birthday.

A team of detectives from northern Portugal began reviewing the evidence two years ago.

British police have also been sifting through the case files and said they have identified new avenues of investigation. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

B.C. trailer-park nightmare finally over for one resident

'Overjoyed.' Stephen Chalmers has a new home thanks to donors from across the country

WEBB
Metro in Vancouver

As Stephen Chalmers stepped into his bright, spacious, new 1999 fifth-wheel in Langley, B.C., on Thursday, he went silent and just took it all in.

Then, he burst into tears. "I live in a palace," he said, his voice quivering with relief after having survived nearly six weeks in a run-down Surrey trailer park without power.

Chalmers, who suffers from multiple mental illnesses including depression, was pushed to his limit when the landlord, K.B. Properties, failed to hire a health-and-safety co-ordinator for the demolition of the neighbouring Beladean Motel.

The demolition crew hit live hydro wires, and ever since then the Beladean Trailer Park has been running on unreliable generators — and even those the landlord failed to provide until the city got involved.

Chalmers wanted to leave, but his leaky 1989 trailer was too old and broken down to be accepted at most other trailer parks.

Realizing how desperate the situation was, his sister, Marilyn Chase, started a crowdfunding campaign on Fundrazr.com with Metro's assistance.

Within five days the campaign hit its goal of $5,000. Metro then partnered with the Travelhome trailer dealership in Langley, plus a very generous anonymous donor who heard Chalmers' story on Classic Rock 101 and offered another $5,000, to buy him a refurbished, family-sized 26-foot trailer.

On Thursday Travelhome staff also surprised Chalmers, who lives on disability, with plenty of home furnishings, such as pots and pans, towels, bedding and gift certificates for groceries.

"I'm overwhelmed, overjoyed, ecstatically happy," Chalmers said, before adding he wanted to send a message to the donors across the country and as far away as Norway who made it all possible.

Chalmers' message to donors

"I don't pass out the word love very often, but the amount of love that you people showed me is overwhelming, and for that I thank you and I love you." Stephen Chalmers

Chalmers has found a new, quiet trailer park to live in, and is thrilled that he will be reunited with his beloved shih tzu, Spaghetti. He has been unable to live with her for the past two years because his old, leaky trailer wasn't safe for her.

"It means that I'm not totally alone," he said. "The love that that dog shows me is absolutely undying and unconditional."

Several local politicians, including two members of provincial parliament and Surrey city councillor Barinder Rasode, showed up to the key handover to wish Chalmers well, and to promise him they will continue to fight for harsher penalties for negligent landlords.

"As we head into the winter and you look at serious issues like people not having electricity or heat, we are working on it right away," said Rasode.

"We're hoping in the next couple of weeks that we'll have a recommendation (on tougher bylaws) from our bylaws department."

Others still without power

Eight residents with nowhere else to go still live at the Beladean Trailer Park in Surrey, which has been running on generators for nearly six weeks since an inadequately supervised motel demolition knocked the power out on Sept. 14.

- Program manager of emergency shelter Hyland House Peter Fedos conducts homeless outreach in the area on behalf of B.C. Housing.
- He said the city, the Ministry of Social Development, and Options Community Services, of which Hyland House is a part, are in constant contact about the situation.
- "Everyone is trying to ease the stress occurring for the residents at the trailer park," he said.
- "The Hyland House Mobile Outreach team is working with people there to see if we can get them re-housed in collaboration with B.C. Housing and everyone who is at the table supporting us."

Former Barenaked Ladies front man Steven Page is trading his guitar for a fork in a new television series that looks at the shady world of food.

The show The Illegal Eater, which airs on the Travel and Escape channel Tuesdays, is an exploration of the slightly shady, just below board eateries in North American cities.

Page said when he was first approached about the show he thought it would be an opportunity to try television, while still staying close to something he cares about.

"I still identify as a musician," he said. "I am not a reporter. I am not a journalist. I am an entertainer and food is kind of my comfort zone outside of music. It is what I care about."

The show looks at supper clubs and other underground eateries that feel part speak-easy and part Haute cuisine.

Page said initially he thought filming an illegal eatery would be a real challenge, but he hasn't found it to be a problem.

"I was surprised at how many people were quite willing to let us in," he said.

He said most of the places they profiled where quite willing to be filmed, because they accepted being shut down as part of the business.

"We talked to some people who had been shut down several times and just kept moving."

Canada's premier eats. Toronto's Bar Isabel tops best new restaurant list Toronto's Bar Isabel has been named Canada's best new restaurant for 2013 in an annual survey conducted by EnRoute magazine.

Vij's Railway Express, a mobile restaurant inspired by an Indian rail carriage with a menu that explores regional flavours and dishes of India, won the people's choice award. The food truck, owned by cookbook author Vikram Vij and his wife Meeru Dhalwala, came out on top in an online poll decided by Canadians.

International food and wine writer Andrew Braithwaite, who chose the 10 finalists after eating out anonymously "night after night" for a month to make his decision, pointed to the geographic diversity, noting that last year's list was heavy on Toronto establishments.

"This year I was lucky that I had a lot of great meals in seven different cities," he said.

Bob Chant, Loblaw's senior vice-president of corporate affairs and communications

Grocery giant Loblaw Companies Ltd. says it will provide long-term financial assistance to the victims and families affected by a deadly factory collapse in Bangladesh in April.

The company said Thursday the compensation will go to those who worked at the New Wave Style factory, which produced clothing for Loblaw's Joe Fresh clothing line. The company will also pay three months in wages to workers until the longer-term funds kick in.

The New Wave Style factory was one of five manufacturing plants in the Dhaka plaza that collapsed, killing more than 1,100 workers on April 24.

Loblaw did not disclose the total compensation amount.

In addition, the company has joined with British clothing retailer Primark to provide financial assistance to workers of all retailers in the factory plaza.

"Should the other brands not step forward and join in this funding, we will join Primark and immediately contribute to the payment of three months wages for the approximately 3,600 individuals involved, regardless of the brand apparel that was being produced in their workplace," said Bob Chant, Loblaw's senior vice-president of corporate affairs and communications.

The company has previously donated $1 million to Save the Children Bangladesh and the Centre for Rehabilitation of the Paralyzed, to help those in the country's garment industry. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Synopsis

In Cormac 'No Country for Old Men' McCarthy's screenwriting debut, The Counselor, he tells a gritty story of a greedy lawyer (Michael Fassbender) in over his head after dipping his toe in the narcotics trade with drug lord Reiner (Javier Bardem) and his sociopath girlfriend Malkina (Cameron Diaz). When the deal — smuggling 625 kilos of cocaine from Mexico to Chicago — goes south, the counselor finds his life swirling out of control. Spiraling around this grim vortex are womanizing middle-man Westray (Brad Pitt), prison inmate Ruth (Rosie Perez) and the counselor's long-distance girlfriend Laura (Penélope Cruz).

RICHARD CROUSE AND MARK BRESLIN

Less talk, more action

The Counselor.
Existential speeches bog down a promising dark crime drama

Richard: Mark, The Counselor is the feel bad movie of the year. Bleak and hopeless, it's a crime drama that examines the reasons and consequences of crime instead of focusing on the crime itself. It's a stylish cautionary tale about the worst of human behaviour driven by greed, lust and hubris; a non-action, action movie where most of the fireworks are in McCarthy's dialogue. Luckily actors like Bardem, Pitt and Fassbender are there to keep the fuse lit. What did you make of it?

Mark: I'm convinced there's a decent movie embedded in this overstuffed, overwritten film. First, let's take out all the portentous, existential speeches delivered by even the most tangential characters. Then, we could cut about two-thirds of Michael Fassbender's pained reaction shots. He looks like he's got indigestion after being force-fed the script. Oh, and get rid of the opening soft-core scene between him and Penélope Cruz. Then, there might be a grimly sardonic movie on the order of No Country for Old Men. But as it is, I could only enjoy it for the acting, the scenery, and Bardem's collection of 80's Versace shirts.

RC: I liked it more than you, but only by one of Javier Bar-dem's crazy Brian Grazier hairs. Talky to the extreme, the entire movie is built around dialogue that sounds like it flowed from the hardest boiled crime writer out there, which I guess McCarthy is now that Elmore Leonard is working from his celestial typewriter. Catch phrases abound — "You don't know someone until you know what they want," for example — but it is wordy. Sometimes brilliantly so, but the pacing, particularly in the first hour, will be thought of as hypnotic by some, slow by others. My main disappointment was Diaz, who I didn't think could deliver the dialogue. You?

MB: Diaz was OK because she looked the part and that got her through some clunky line readings. But back to the script... the plot is revealed slowly, in layers, which will not be to everyone's liking. You just know you are in the company of some very bad people; you're just not sure why. This mysteriousness kept me interested for awhile; then I started counting the speaking parts and calculating the budget. Even at scale, it must have mounted up. And semi-famous actors keep showing up for only one scene, never to be seen again, like Ruben Blades. And Richard, was that John Leguizamo in an uncredited scene?

RC: Yes! It's cameo city!

MB: Fits right in with the movie's aesthetic of more is more.

Playing the Hollywood game well

Hailee Steinfeld. After an Oscar nom, True Grit actress has been choosing her roles wisely

NED EHRBAR
Metro World News in Hollywood

Since getting Hollywood's attention — and an Oscar nomination — for True Grit in 2010, 16-year-old Hailee Steinfeld has kept some impressive momentum going. This fall, she debuted Can a Song Save Your Life at the Toronto International Film Festival before seeing Romeo and Juliet hit theatres. Now she co-stars in the long-awaited film adaptation of the science-fiction novel Ender's Game.

It's still early in your career, but you're making some great choices.

There's really been no specific method in terms of picking roles or any of that. I find that everything

Hailee Steinfeld, left, stars in Ender's Game, which opens next Friday. CONTRIBUTED that I've done has been so different from the last, and I think that's a reason why I love that and I'm attracted to certain roles. But it's a process that involves my agents and my parents, so there's a lot of filtering before it gets to me. It comes down to just sort of loving the idea and loving the whole story and wanting to be a part of it.

You're also doing a lot of adaptations, which is becoming a common theme. Yes! Which again is not necessarily intentional but really helpful. I always find it interesting when some actors don't read the book (something is based on) — which is starting to make more sense to me given the fact that you're given a script to make a movie, and it may or may not have anything to do with the book. I remember when I shot True Grit, the fact that it was a book and had been done before was huge for me and it helped me so much. And then with Romeo and Juliet and Ender's Game, it's just a couple hundred extra pages of knowledge.

With Ender's Game, some viewers seem to be looking for a love story between yours and Asa Butterfield's characters where there isn't one. Is that frustrating?

Yeah, right? I know. I think in some ways it's expected. But the beauty of the relationship is that there's no pressure in terms of liking each other or any of that.

They don't have to fall in love to trust each other. There doesn't have to be any of that. They have a really great friendship, which I think is really special. And again, they're in Battle School. People aren't secretly going out, there's none of that happening. There's no place to go, there's nothing to do, you're under strict rules and you're away from your family so all you really want is a friend.

What happens to actors in Vegas stays in Vegas

Jerry Ferrara. Unless Robert De Niro beats you up. Then you can talk about it. The Entourage star chats about working in the desert

NED EHRBAR
Metro World News in Hollywood

Jerry Ferrara swears it's a coincidence that his post-Entourage acting career keeps bringing him back to Las Vegas — not that he's complaining. Ferrara hits the bachelor party circuit in Last Vegas and next spring's Think Like a Man Too. And he's starting to feel like a local.

You've got two movies coming up set in Las Vegas. How much more fun or more difficult is it to film there?

You know what? Look, Vegas is obviously a really fun place to spend your time. There is a big difference in going there for two or three days and then living there for two or three months. I don't know why the stars are kind of lining up and bringing me back there to work — not saying that I don't appreciate it. I love it, but it's just weird. It's a crazy experience to actually get used to a routine in Vegas — getting on the elevator at 5 a.m. to go to work when most people are coming home; going through a full day and then you kind of come home from work; you have some dinner and you're like, "Oh, I'm going to read a book or my script for tomorrow and go to sleep." I didn't experience that in my younger years, so it's weird. "I'm going to wake up and go for a run at 5 a.m. in the desert." People do actually live there and work there.

Jerry Ferrara GETTY IMAGES

Exactly! At one point I started saying to myself, "You know what? I could live here. I could see myself living here." There's definitely a lot to do, as long as you keep the gambling in check (laughs). You can have a nice little life over there.

In Last Vegas, you get laid out by Robert De Niro. Is it easier on your pride to take getting decked by a senior citizen when it's De Niro?

I don't think anybody — especially any guy who fancies himself as even being a little bit tough — wants to get beat up in a movie. But I can't think of a better person in the world — like if you literally gave me a choice and said, "Jerry, you're going to have to get knocked out in this movie. You can cast anyone you want to knock you out," De Niro would be the guy I would say. I'm pretty lucky in the sense that my first on-screen knockout punch is by Robert frigging De Niro.

Comedy

Bad Grandpa

Director. Jeff Tremaine

Stars. Johnny Knoxville, Jackson Nicoll

It's juvenile and tasteless but let's not pretend the stunts the Jackass team cook up aren't daring. In Bad Grandpa, Jackass mastermind Johnny Knoxville spins a narrative into the mix, playing a sex-obsessed octogenarian who teams up with his pre-pubescent grandson to pull provocative pranks on the unsuspecting public. Although the "story" ultimately suffers on behalf of the gags, Knoxville and young Jackson Nicoll are extraordinary, especially when they push buttons in a little miss princess pageant.

STEVE GOW

Action/Drama

All is Lost

Director. J.C. Chandor

Stars. Robert Redford

Robert Redford plays a sailor on a solo yacht trip on the Indian Ocean. When his boat collides with an abandoned shipping container he must use all his resources to survive. The actor is in every frame of this film and although he only speaks a dozen or so lines, manages to create a compelling persona of a man hell bent on survival against increasingly difficult odds. All is Lost is more audacious than it is entertaining, but it showcases Redford's effortless star power. Alone and figuratively naked, he holds the screen for the entire 106 minutes.

RICHARD CROUSE

Documentary

Watermark

Directors. Jennifer Baichwal, Edward Burtynsky

In what may possibly be considered a sequel to her award-winning 2006 doc Manufactured Landscapes, Jennifer Baichwal (now teaming up with that film's shutterbug subject Edward Burtynsky) creates a stunningly beautiful study of water and humankind's dependence (or neglect) of it. For almost every majestic, carefully framed shot, there lies a horror beneath, but the filmmakers succeed by avoiding didacticism and instead skillfully shower the viewer with a cascade of contemplation.

Tom Hardy to star in Elton John biopic

He's a Rocket Man.

Actor formerly known as Bane to tackle role of iconic singer

Elton John
GETTY IMAGES

Tom Hardy will play Elton John in a biopic titled Rocketman.

Focus Features announced Hardy's casting as the iconic piano man on Wednesday. The film is planned to begin shooting late next year.

The 36-year-old British actor is well respected for his wide-ranging talent, but his brawny, tattooed frame makes him an unconventional choice.

Hardy is most famous for playing the terrorist Bane in The Dark Knight Rises. He has showcased a muscled masculinity in films like Warrior, Lawless and Bronson.

Rocketman is being made with the co-operation of the 66-year-old John, who's an executive producer on the film.

What will Oscar bring this year?

Oscar season officially kicked off last month at the Toronto International Film Festival, and Hollywood has wasted no time pushing their awards favourites in theatres and at the remaining fall festivals, but most of the buzzed-about films have still yet to hit screens. That means it's time for one of the industry's favourite pastimes: rampant speculation. Here's where we think the nominations will land — assuming Martin Scorsese gets his Wolf of Wall Street ready in time.

NED EHRBAR

Best picture

For possibly the first year since the Academy expanded the big category to up to 10 nominations, it might actually be tough to pick just 10. But for us, it doesn't matter what other films get nods since 12 Years a Slave has it in the bag already.

- 12 Years a Slave — projected winner
- Gravity
- Dallas Buyers Club
- Nebraska
- Captain Phillips
- Wolf of Wall Street
- Inside Llewyn Davis
- American Hustle
- Secret Life of Walter Mitty

Best actor

We've already seen some fantastic performances this year, with more on the way, but the stars are aligned for Matthew McConaughey following a string of great, risky performances over the past two years leading up to his amazing work in Dallas Buyers Club.

- Matthew McConaughey, Dallas Buyers Club — projected winner
- Chiwetel Ejiofor, 12 Years a Slave
- Hugh Jackman, Prisoners
- Leonardo DiCaprio, Wolf of Wall Street
- Ben Stiller, Secret Life of Walter Mitty

Best actress

Sandra Bullock is an easy favourite for the nerve-racking Gravity, but we're hoping Academy voters have long enough memories to finally give Cate Blanchett her due for her work in Woody Allen's latest.

- Sandra Bullock, Gravity
- Cate Blanchett, Blue Jasmine — projected winner
- Judi Dench, Philomena
- Meryl Streep, August: Osage County
- Kate Winslet, Labor Day

Best supporting actor

Probably more crowded than any other category, we still can't imagine any supporting actor performance leaving as much of an impression as Michael Fassbender's electric, terrifying slave owner. Honourable mention to Jared Leto's transformative work in Dallas Buyers Club.

- Michael Fassbender, 12 Years a Slave — projected winner
- Jared Leto, Dallas Buyers Club
- Daniel Bruhl, Rush
- Christian Bale, American Hustle
- Tom Hanks, Saving Mr. Banks

Best supporting actress

This is the category where the Academy generally feels comfortable rewarding newcomers, and we hope that continues with Lupita Nyong'o for her startling debut in 12 Years a Slave.

- Lupita Nyong'o, 12 Years a Slave — projected winner
- Sarah Paulson, 12 Years a Slave
- Jennifer Lawrence, American Hustle
- Kristen Wiig, Secret Life of Walter Mitty
- Julia Roberts, August: Osage County

Best director

While we'd love a 12 Years a Slave sweep, Gravity was also an amazing film-going experience — and a four-year labour of love for Alfonso Cuarón. He should be rewarded for the achievement.

- Steve McQueen, 12 Years a Slave
- Alfonso Cuarón, Gravity — projected winner
- Ben Stiller, Secret Life of Walter Mitty
- David O. Russell, American Hustle
- Alexander Payne, Nebraska

Brian Wilson promising crafted tour performances

Music. Beach Boys founder, who is on tour with Jeff Beck, says he's gotten
better over time

Brian Wilson says that with time, he's become a stronger performer.

"It's gotten better. We've had a little practice. ... The musicianship, the vocals have gotten better," he said.

Wilson is on a joint tour with Jeff Beck. It wraps Oct.
30 in Milwaukee.

Wilson, the 71-year-old singer/songwriter, even said he's improved since the Beach Boys' 50th anniversary tour last year.

"It was a very sentimental experience, but the vocals are even better now."

But Wilson wouldn't talk about the drama with Mike Love surrounding the band or what the future of the group entailed.

Wilson and Love, cousins and founding members of the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame band the Beach Boys, have been embroiled in a series of divisive lawsuits.

Are Pattinson and Stewart hooking up on the DL?

Maybe things aren't so over between Robert Pattinson and Kristen Stewart after all. The Twilight co-stars, who officially split up five months ago, have reportedly been seeing each other on the sly, according to Life & Style magazine. "They've always had a passion for each other, so even though the relationship didn't work out, they still hook up when they're in L.A.," a source says. "Rob doesn't see a future with Kristen at this point in time, but he likes to hook up with her. He's made it clear that they are not exclusive."

METRO DISH

OUR TAKE ON THE WORLD OF CELEBRITIES

The Word

50 Shades has its brand new Christian Grey: Jamie Dornan

Wait, Jamie who? Dornan.

Oh, from Game of Thrones?

No, from Once Upon a Time, that TV series with fairy tale characters. He played the Huntsman in the Enchanted Forest and Sheriff Graham in Storybrooke, the show's alternative universe.

Where else have I seen him?

Possibly Marie Antoinette, if you were one of the six people who saw that. Or from magazine ads. He was a Calvin Klein model and the face (and body) of Dior Homme. But British audiences know the 31-year-old as the serial killer on The Fall, a hit BBC series starring Gillian Anderson. And gossip fans know him as Keira Knightley's ex. They dated for two years.

So how'd he get cast as Christian Grey?

He has abs. He has experience (sexing up the lady mayor on Once). And he probably came cheap. Sons of Anarchy star Charlie Hunnam, who has a higher profile, was reportedly to be paid only $125,000 before he dropped out. Expect Dornan to get that or less.

Word is he's Northern Irish. Does he have a sexy accent? A bit.

So is he single?

Alas, no. He's married to singer Amelia Warner, who records under the name Slow Moving Millie. They're expecting a child soon.

And does Twitter approve?

It's early. Fans are probably still busy Google Image-searching his name to form an opinion. But the popular @BieberSuperArmy account was among the first to weigh in with: "This will be Christian Grey, his name is Jamie Dornan, let's take a moment to thank God."

Eastwood's wife cites 'irreconcilable differences' as she finally seeks divorce

After a false alarm last month, Clint Eastwood's wife, Dina, has filed for divorce from the 83-year-old actor and director, seeking to end their 17-year marriage, according to TMZ. In court documents filed in Monterey, Calif., this week,

Dina cites "irreconcilable differences" as the reason for their breakup and is seeking physical custody of their 16-year-old daughter, Morgan. Last month, Dina filed for a legal separation from Clint but withdrew the petition two days later.

Lindsay Lohan

Question marks loom over Lohan's sobriety

Lindsay Lohan's behaviour over the past week has been raising eyebrows, leading skeptics to suspect the effects of her court-ordered 90-day rehab stint may have worn off, but her dad, Michael Lohan, insists all is well. "I've seen and speak to Lindsay constantly, and every time I do she is clear of mind, and by no means do I have any suspicion of her relapsing in any way," he tells Radar Online. "Maybe she goes out at night, but who doesn't? She's up in the morning and she's doing the right thing."

For winemakers, fall is all about harvesting. Brewers, meanwhile, turn to the creation of limited edition craft ales — many of which take their names and flavour cues from the season.

Local brews are hotter than Hades, with their fans applying a reverence for their stylistic differences that's arguably surpassed only by those who appreciate fine wine.

What gives beer the edge when it comes to the "cool factor" is that consumer attitude regarding adding flavour elements to beer is much more open minded than those of their counterparts in the wine world.

That gives breweries carte blanche to add inspiration to their autumn ales, with many focusing on October's official gourd — the pumpkin.

The output of most small, regional breweries is sold close to home, so visit them, or hit your local retailer, to see what's being brewed in your own backyard.

Montreal's McAuslan Brewing's St-Ambroise Citrouille

The Great Pumpkin Ale (4 by 341 ml, $9.95 - $10.95) is available across the country.

Infused with cinnamon, ginger, nutmeg, clove and, of course, pumpkin, it balances its vegetal expression with an undercurrent of subtle spice.

PRICES REFLECT THE RANGE ACROSS THE COUNTRY. SOME PRODUCTS MAY NOT BE AVAILABLE IN ALL PROVINCES.

We all scream for scary treats

By the time you've carved an army of pumpkins, costumed your pint-sized ghouls and purchased bushels of candy, time for cooking up spooky grub may be in short supply. These treats don't require much time or energy so you can still do the Monster Mash.

Candied Apple Craniums

Wash and dry 6 apples. Insert large candy stick. Set aside. Place 12 ounces of white candy melts in heat-safe bowl. Set bowl over saucepan of simmering water. Stir until the candy has melted. Dunk each apple into candy melts, spooning up sides and over the top for an even coating. Set coated apples upright on waxed paper. Use a rolling pin to roll out Tootsie Rolls until flat. Use a paring knife to cut round eyes and a heart-shaped nose from the flattened Tootsie

Rolls. "Glue" the eyes and nose (mount the "heart" upside down) to the apples using piping gel or a bit of purchased frosting.

Vampire Doughnuts

Arrange a stack of honey-glazed doughnuts on a large serving tray. Use bamboo skewer to poke two fang holes in top of each, then dribble red gel food colouring coming out of the holes and down the sides of the doughnuts.

Goblet Grave

Head to craft store and pick up a silicone skull and crossbones ice cube tray. Fill each cavity with plain Greek yogurt, then use offset spatula to smooth the tops and remove any excess yogurt from the tray. Freeze until solid (overnight is best). Let the cubes soften at room temperature for several minutes, then remove the ice cubes from the tray. Arrange cubes in a small bowl set over a larger bowl of crushed ice. Serve alongside goblets of grape juice.

How to tell the difference, even if you can't taste the difference

Wine knowledge.

You might not have the nose for Noir or memory for Merlot but you can still pick out wine like an expert

ANDRÉ PROULX

Wine Expert, Newstalk 1010

It's Friday and you're rushing to the wine boutique. But, this isn't an ordinary Friday, it's payday — time to pick up something out of the ordinary.

Where do you begin to decide what bottle to take home? Was 2011 a good year in Australia? Was it Cabernet Sauvignon or Cabernet Franc that you prefer? Hey, check out that bottle with the snappy label!

I recently had a colleague ask me if there were certain wine awards that are better than others or if they hand out wine awards like participation medals at an elementary school track meet. The fact of the matter is that wine awards are judged by a panel of wine experts. The experts who judge wine competitions generally rate wine outside of any given competition.

The most popular ratings are on 100, 20 or a star system. Typically, anything over 90 is considered an exceptional wine with scores above 93 being few and far between. The 100 point scale can be a little misleading as you will rarely

You too can be a wine connoisseur. Just don't be a wine snob. ISTOCK PHOTOS

(if ever) see any wines that are rated below 85. This basically leaves you with a 15 point score with anything over 95 being the best of the very best.

I prefer finding award winners when shopping for a gem at my local wine shop.

Wine awards are great because you fill a room with critics and get them to agree on which wines are great. Entering a wine into a competition doesn't guarantee a medal.

Typically, a wine needs to get a certain average score to qualify for even a bronze medal. This is why sometimes you

Wine awards

Most award winners can be identified by a small sticker stating the competition.

- Intervin International Wine Awards. This competition judges the best wines available to the Canadian consumer period. Award winners can be found from all over the world. Visit intervin.ca.
- Decanter World Wine Awards. This is a massive wine competition that anyone who is making a wine that is commercially available can enter. Check out decanter.com.

will find a competition that has multiple gold medal winners. A wine competition with multiple winners in any category means that those wines have hit an average score decided ahead of time, which will qualify the wine for a bronze, silver or gold medal. Competitions are often divided by price point as well.

Most competitions are also tasted blind, which means that the labels are hidden from the judges. So, you get consensus on the quality of any given bottle and at the same time, the judging process remains objective and unbiased. THE WINE REVIEW WITH ANDRÉ PROULX AIRS REGULARLY ON NEWSTALK 1010 IN TORONTO. Anthony Peluso and Blake Wheeler scored for Winnipeg, which has lost three of four.

Late in overtime, David Legwand picked up a loose puck in the Winnipeg zone and sent a pass to Smith at the left faceoff dot, where he hammered a one-timer past Jets goaltender Ondrej Pavelec, who had 30 saves.

Tied 1-1 entering the third period, Mike Fisher sent a shot on goal from the right boards.

Hornqvist picked up the rebound in the high slot and fired a shot by Pavelec for his fourth goal of the season at 6:04 of the third.

Hornqvist leads the Predators in goals this season.

With 3:01 left in the third, Wheeler skated through the slot and converted the long rebound off a Zach Bogosian shot to tie it 2-2 and send the game into extra time.

Goldeyes bring ASG to Winnipeg

The Winnipeg Goldeyes have been chosen to host the 2014 American Association All-Star Game.

The two-day event will include a skills competition and fan fest July 28 before the big game on July 29.

"We are thrilled to be able to host our fellow American Association teams for this great event," Goldeyes general manager Andrew Collier said in a release Thursday. "Our staff is working hard to ensure it will be a marquee event in downtown Winnipeg this summer for our fans to enjoy."

This will be Winnipeg's third time hosting the mid-summer classic, after the team hosted the Northern League's all-star tilts in 2001 and 2008.

Goldeyes season ticket holders will have tickets to the fan fest, skills competition, and all-star game added to their 2014 ticket package, and Goldeyes nine-game mini pack holders will get a chance to buy tickets for the game before the general public.

'It's a process': Noel preaches patience

Winnipeg isn't known for warm weather at this time of year.

After failing to crack .500 on a six-game home stand, the Jets are putting some distance between themselves and the heat of unfulfilled expectations.

"Everybody wants everything right now and right away and it's got to happen right now," coach Claude Noel said this week.

"We're trying to build some things and it takes time."

Their last home game, a 5-4 shootout loss to the Washington Capitals, showed some of the good things the Jets can do.

They're fast, create scoring opportunities and appear to have good depth on their forward lines. At the same time, some formerly reliable players are struggling, the team's defensive game still seems wanting and consistency isn't there.

The Jets know they must

But just how realistic are the playoffs, especially after a shift to the Western Conference?

"It is a process," says Noel of the team's growth. "You have to work the process. It doesn't happen overnight and there isn't a manual for this stuff."

The chance to spend a little time on the road isn't unappreciated.

"We know better than anybody what's going on," says forward Blake Wheeler, whose own game hasn't lived up to expectations so far this season.

Ray explosive in leading Argos past Bombers

CFL. Toronto clinches first place in East Division with win

Ricky Ray completed a club-record 21 straight passes and threw three TD passes to lead the Toronto Argonauts to a hard-hitting 36-21 win over a determined Winnipeg Blue Bombers squad Thursday night.

Ray finished 39 of 45 passing for a career-high 505 yards to earn Toronto (11-6) first in the East Division for the first time since '07 and just the third time since '97. More importantly, the Argos cemented home-field advantage in the conference final Nov. 17 by sweeping the home-and-home series with Winnipeg (3-14).

Argos QB Ricky Ray, right, celebrates a touchdown with receiver Dontrelle Inman on Thursday night in Toronto.
RICHARD LAUTENS/TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Ray broke the Argos record of 19 straight completions in the third and finished one short of the CFL mark when he threw an incompletion to running back Chad Kackert, back after missing two games with a shoulder injury. But Argos receivers Jason Barnes and Andre Durie both lost fumbles deep in Winnipeg's zone following big completions by Ray that allowed the Bombers to hang around.

Ray cemented the win with a 69-yard TD pass to Dontrelle Inman at 12:16 of the fourth.

On July 19, Ray set the CFL single-game passing accuracy record by completing 19 of 20 passes in a 35-19 win over Winnipeg.

Wallace Miles and Rory Kohler scored TDs for Winnipeg. Sandro DeAngelis added the converts and two field goals while Mike Renaud kicked a single. THE CANADIAN PRESS

King James insists he's still got plenty of work to do

NBA. League's MVP says he took time out of busy summer to develop basketball IQ

LeBron James was desperate for some time away from basketball, so he packed up his family for a vacation this summer. Sun and sand. Rest and relaxation.

Considered the best player in the game, James remains obsessed with getting better. That's why, on the verge of starting his 11th professional season and fourth with the Miami Heat, James fully expects the 2013-14 campaign to be his best one yet. He knows there's no shortage of challengers aiming to knock both him and his team off their respective mountaintops.

"I'm nitpicking now, obviously, at my own game," James said in an interview with The Associated Press. "I want that. I want to be uncomfortable. I want to continue to push the envelope and get to a point where I feel like I'm trying to master everything. Now, I can't be the greatest at everything. There's better rebounders than me. There's better passers than me. There's better scorers than me. But I want to be able to maximize my potential in everything I do."

NBA

Raptors extend contracts of Ross, Valanciunas

The Toronto Raptors have exercised the third-year team options on the entry-level contracts of centre Jonas Valanciunas and guard Terrence Ross, extending the deals through the 2014-15 season.

The Raptors had until next Thursday to exercise their option on both players.

The seven-foot, 257-pound Valanciunas joined the Raptors after being selected fifth overall in the 2011 NBA draft and spending the 2011-12 season playing overseas.

He was named to the 2012-13 NBA all-rookie second team after finishing the year ranked third among rookies in rebounds (6.0), blocks (1.26) and field goal percentage (.557). Valanciunas also ranked seventh among rookies averaging 8.9 points in 23.9 minutes.

A native of Utena, Lithuania, Valanciunas became the fifth rookie in franchise history to start on opening night.

Ross, a six-foot-seven, 197-pound forward, was selected eighth overall in the 2012 draft. Last season he posted averages of 6.4 points, 2.0 rebounds and 17.0 minutes in 73 games. He shot .332 (65-196) from beyond the arc and finished fifth among rookies in made three-pointers.

MMJHL

2nd place on line at Sawchuk Arena

Second place in the Manitoba Minor Junior Hockey League is up for grabs Friday night as the Pembina Valley Twisters battle the River East Royal Knights at Terry Sawchuk Arena.

Both clubs are 7-3 on the season, and sit tied for second overall in the MMJHL standings.

The first-place St. Boniface Riels improved to 10-0, with a 5-2 win over the visiting Transcona Railer Express on Tuesday night.

Other Friday night action has the Stonewall Jets visiting the Raiders, and the St. James Canucks hosting the Ft. Garry/Ft. Rouge Twins. SCOTT STROH/FOR METRO

Climbing the rankings. Hitmen winger shooting for big draft year

Jake Virtanen is not recognizable to every Canadian junior hockey fan, but NHL scouts definitely know his name.

The 17-year-old Calgary Hitmen winger is expected to be among the top selections in next summer's NHL draft.

"I'd be very surprised if he wasn't," said Washington Capitals Western scout Terry Richardson. "In my opinion, he's a top 10, top 15 for sure. I don't get to see all the kids, of course, actually in Eastern Canada, but this kid's good. He's big. Strong. He's what everybody wants."

Virtanen, a New Westminster, B.C., native who grew up in the Fraser Valley communities of Langley and Abbotsford, is helping his cause this week, as he's a big reason why the Hitmen remain in first place in the WHL's Western Conference.

He has five goals in his last four games and recorded his first WHL hat trick in a 6-3 win over the Lethbridge Hurricanes on Sunday. With eight goals and four assists in 14 games, he continues to progress from a rookie season in which he generated 16 goals and 18 helpers.

"My 16-year-old season was pretty good," said Virtanen, who stands six-foot-one and weighs 210 pounds.

"I finished strong. I had a strong second half of the season. I get drafted this year, so (the draft) is in the back of my mind. It's obviously one of the biggest years of my life.

"So I'm really looking forward to (doing well) this season. It's a huge challenge for me."

Virtanen has not set any specific goals while he attempts to help the Hitmen reach the Memorial Cup, though he's hopeful for a chance to play for Canada's entry at the world junior tournament during the Christmas holidays. But he is eager to live up to his pre-draft billing.

NHL Central Scouting has listed him as a player to watch, ranking him among only seven WHL A-level skaters. Meanwhile, International Scouting Services has ranked him No. 4 on its list of top 2014 prospects.

Horoscopes

Aries

March 21 - April 20

You may wish that everything in your life was perfect but if it was, you would soon grow bored. With that in mind, don't get angry if little things go wrong today.

Taurus

April 21 - May 21

If you have something important to say, say it now if you want your words to have impact. However, if you're critical of someone, they might be critical of you too.

Gemini

May 22 - June 21

If you know what you want today, you will find a way to get it, even though you may have no idea how to get from here to there. Neptune, planet of imagination, will guide your thoughts and your footsteps.

Cancer

June 22 - July 23

Give yourself a break today, not least because the Sun in your fellow Water sign of Scorpio is going to bring remarkable new opportunities your way. The more rest you get now, the more you will accomplish later.

Leo

July 24 - Aug. 23

The most important thing now is that you keep your enthusiasm level high. The planets warn that you may be tempted to take life a bit too easy and if you do then your plans will come to nothing.

Virgo

Aug. 24 - Sept. 23

At times throughout the day you will wonder if you can believe what you see and hear. But, it's true: some people are behaving so badly you must have nothing to do with them.

Libra

Sept. 24 - Oct. 23

You will only have time to act today. That applies especially to work and financial matters where you must follow your instincts — even if what they tell you seems strange.

Scorpio

Oct. 24 - Nov. 22

Resist the urge to look back when you should be looking forward. The Sun in your sign means you can start anew, no matter how many issues are nagging at you from the past.

Sagittarius

Nov. 23 - Dec. 21

You may be concerned that you did not work hard enough to iron out a relationship problem and, yes, maybe that is true, but it's too late now. The chance will come again when the time is right. Stop worrying.

Capricorn

Dec. 22 - Jan. 20

Why do people seem to think and speak and act in slow motion? Whatever the reason, you have to live in the same world, so try not to get uptight. Think of your blood pressure.

Aquarius

Jan. 21 - Feb. 19

Your mind may be alive with possibilities but those around you seem dead to your good ideas. You don't need their help or approval. You can get where you need to be on your own.

Pisces

Feb. 20 - March 20

OK, so you made a mistake. The important question is: what did you learn from it? One thing, for sure, is that failure isn't as painful as you thought it would be. Pick yourself up, brush yourself off and keep going. SALLY BROMPTON
